COLORADO AND GILA VALLEYS.

In the valleys of the Colorado and Gila rivers there is room for thousands. It is not too much to say that nowhere within the limits of this broad Union can be found a more desirable region for the making of a home. No laborious clearing of the land is required; it lies almost ready for the plow. The soil is rich and fertile, and the climate is such that the fruits of the temperate zone will thrive in it. For the establishment of colonies, such as are made in Southern California, Arizona presents unrivaled opportunities. Thousands of acres now profitable can be made productive by the cultivation of fruit trees and vines, and there is no investment which assures larger and more permanent return.

The statements in this article on Yuma county are not exaggerated; in fact they fall short of doing justice to this wonderful bit of country. Apples, dates, almonds and walnuts will do well. Strawberries, raspberries, blackberries, currants, gooseberries and all varieties of small fruits can be successfully cultivated. Indeed, Yuma county is not only the natural home of the citrus and semi-tropical fruits, but almost every fruit, nut, plant, grain, grass, or vegetable which can be produced in either tropic or temperate zones will thrive in the rich and fertile soils.

With the bright prospects ahead of the town of Yuma and Yuma county there can be no better investment for capital seeking large and remunerative returns than in this region. With a matchless climate, where all forms of disease known to the damp and rigorous regions of the east and north are unknown, where the bright sunshine keeps the crops in a healthy and vigorous condition, and where the day and night are so balmy that the crops are not injured by the heat of the day or the cold of the night, it is an actual fact that the Yuma county is a veritable paradise in which to live.

The soil of these valleys is among the richest on the continent. It is formed of the detritus which the streams have brought down from their mountain homes in their journey to the sea. By constant overflows and change of channel, the soil is rich and fertile. Matter has formed a soil of extreme fertility. Near the streams it is a dark alluvial mold, well adapted to small grains and grasses. Farther back there is a rich sandy loam, mellow and porous, and especially favorable for fruit culture. It has been already demonstrated that the productive capacity of these valleys is not surpassed by lands of equal area in any part of the United States. The fact that life is the growth of the fruits, cereals and vegetables, that the labor of the cultivator is reduced to the minimum, in nearly all of them two crops a year can be grown, and vegetation in one month of California. The farmer plants a cottonwood sapling before his door, and within the year he has a shade tree twenty feet high. Alfalfa can be cut six times during the season, and it is an actual fact that five years ago the Yuma county was a desert. What state or territory can make such a showing? The climate, it must be remembered, is nearly perfect. Summer never falls in these southern valleys. The farmer begins to plant in November, and by the middle of May his harvest is ready. The crops are in bloom, and the grain fields are a sea of green. The fields of the eastern farmers are covered with snow and ice.

Every variety of grains, grasses, fruits and vegetables grown in temperate zones can be produced in the valleys of Arizona. Wheat, corn, barley, oats and all the small grains give a yield of from twenty-five to fifty bushels per acre. Alfalfa, timothy, clover, and all the cultivated grasses grow luxuriantly, the former giving from eight to ten tons to the acre each year. Every variety of vegetable raised in the United States can be grown in Arizona, and nowhere are they found of better quality.

Besides the products mentioned, these semi-tropical valleys produce cotton, sugarcane, tobacco, hemp and flax. The soil is rich and fertile, and the climate is such that the crops are not injured by the heat of the day or the cold of the night. The quality is all that could be desired, and the wine, although its manufacture is yet experimental, is of a fine flavor, delicious bouquet, and unsurpassed by any native product as a table beverage. Experiments with the raisin grape have shown that this climate and soil possess every advantage for the production and curing of this staple article of commerce.

Besides the fruits already mentioned, the orange, lemon, lime, olive, fig, pomegranate and others of the citrus family, can be grown successfully in the valleys of Southern Arizona. Orange trees are now in bearing in Salt River valley and at Yuma, while the banana is also being cultivated at the latter place. The Arizona orange is a sea of green, and will compare favorably with the best California.

In the valleys of the Colorado, the Salt and the Gila rivers, there is room for thousands. It is not too much to say that nowhere within the limits of this broad Union can be found a more desirable region for the making of a home. No laborious clearing of the land is required; it lies almost ready for the plow. The soil is rich and fertile, and the climate is such that the fruits of the temperate zone will thrive in it. For the establishment of colonies, such as are made in Southern California, Arizona presents unrivaled opportunities. Thousands of acres now profitable can be made productive by the cultivation of fruit trees and vines, and there is no investment which assures larger and more permanent return.

Main Line Through Imperial.

The Southwest has it on excellent authority that the Southern Pacific has requested rights of way through the lands of the California and Mexican Land and Cattle Company in Lower California just across the border line that divides the latter from the United States. The right of way is apparently needed as a part of a route to Yuma, to be taken by the railroad line the Southern Pacific is now building to Calexico, which is right at the border.

The supposition is that when this line is built through to Yuma it will become the main line of the Southern Pacific's Sunset route, putting the latter through the heart of the Imperial valley.

The change, if made, will certainly be beneficial to the railroad company, for it will not only shorten the Sunset route considerably, but it will allow a long haul through a waterless region, necessitating the transportation of water for the locomotives. It will also put the main line through a country that will have a big way traffic, for Imperial, Brawley, Heber and Calexico will be on the main line, to say nothing of other settlements, rapidly growing up in the one-time desert, that will be tributary to it.

Incidentally it may be said that this change would place the Southern Pacific's main line so close to San Diego that it would be difficult for that company to stay away from the city of both bay and climate. The Southwest, of Los Angeles.

It costs the price of a good farm in western Kansas to fire a single shot from one of the big guns of the navy. Let the Kansas farmer contemplate the Kentucky or Kearsarge drawn up for target practice, shooting quarter sections at a raft out in the sea and he will have a slight idea of the extravagance of supporting a big navy. Memorial Day.

A meeting of old soldiers will be held at the Bank of Yuma on Tuesday evening, May 17, at 8 o'clock, to make arrangements for a proper observance of Memorial day, May 30, 1904. All old veterans and those who served in the Spanish-American war are invited to be present.

"Do It Today."

The time-worn injunction, "Never put off 'til tomorrow what you can do today," is now generally presented in this form: "Do it today!" That is the terse advice we want to give you about that hacking cough or demoralizing cold with which you have been struggling for several days, perhaps weeks. Take some reliable remedy for it TO-DAY, and let that remedy be Dr. Boschee's German Syrup, which has been in use for over thirty-five years. A few doses of it will undoubtedly relieve your cough or cold, and its continual use for a few days will cure you completely. No matter how deep-seated your cough, even if dread consumption has attacked your lungs, German Syrup will surely effect a cure, as it has done before in thousands of apparently hopeless cases of lung trouble. Bonanza Mine Sold.

The once famous Harquin Hala (or Bonanza) mine was sold a few days ago by A. G. Hubbard of Redlands for $40,000. Hubbard & Bowers once sold this mine to an English syndicate for $1,200,000, and at that time it was understood to be a great producer—one of the great mines of the Southwest. For some reason the operation of the mine did not prove profitable to the English company, and Hubbard afterward repurchased the property for $7,000, at sheriff's sale. The mine is located in the Harquin Hala district, Yuma county, about 150 miles northeast of this city. There is said to be renewed activity in that district of late and important discoveries made.
